GOVERNOR WRITING BIENNIAL MESSAGE

Governor Frear is snatching every minute he can spare from his routine work to prepare his message to the Legislature, which convenes a week from tomorrow. The message promises to be fairly long, although the Governor says that he is putting into as few words as possible the many subjects which it must necessarily cover. A number of important recommendations will be made to the lawmakers for them to act upon favorably or otherwise. Bills actually, though not officially, administration measures to cover these recommendations are being prepared by various lawyers, and there will be quite a number of these inspired bills.

COURT PROHIBITS CLOSING OF ROAD

Supreme Bench Opinion Affects Transfers Of Real Estate

An opinion handed down by the Supreme Court this morning in the matter of John Hodson and Albertina Hodson, versus William Wolters, affirming the judgment of the Circuit Judge, will have an important bearing on many real estate transactions in the future, as it establishes a precedent regarding the rights of purchasers of property when the purchases are based upon representations of the sellers. The syllabus of the opinion contains a brief outline of the points of law involved. It says:

"Easements; estoppel; sale of land with reference to intended roads. Where lots on a road shown on a map are sold with a representation that the road, then surveyed and staked out, but not taken over by the government, would be kept open, being an easy and convenient route to reach a park and from there the center of the city."

DIPLOMAT BELIEVES JAPAN IS FRIENDLY

Third Secretary Laughs At Jingo War Taik

"The people of Japan today are perfectly peaceful and calm. They consider the Americans as their true friends and do not therefore believe in breaking that friendship."

Hon. M. Kibe, who is going to the Japanese Embassy in Washington, made the above statement on board the Tenyo Maru yesterday, shortly after the liner docked at Hickfield wharf. Mr. Kibe goes to Washington to become the third secretary of the Japanese Embassy there. He is a close friend of Consul General Lytton and last night he remained ashore, taking apartments in the Japanese Consulate General, where he was dining.

He stated that the action of the California Legislature is not considered by the Japanese as a national issue. The matter was not discussed at Japan when the Tenyo left.

During Mr. Kibe's stay in the city, he visited points of interest, and this morning he went shopping and took in

Kaleikini Mad, Says Emerson

George Kaleikini is insane. This is the flat statement made this afternoon on the witness stand by Dr. Emerson, testifying as an insanity expert, and is the strongest point that has been won by either side in the trial of Kaleikini for the murder of Emily Kaleikini, his wife.

"I think the man has the symptoms of an insane person," said Dr. Emerson in reply to a question by Attorney Charles Achi, counsel for the defense. "I think the man has epilepsy and the epileptic mania. It is one of the well-known divisions of insanity—epileptic mania."

Dr. Emerson said that he based his opinion both upon a personal examination of the defendant and upon the examination of various other persons from whom he had learned the history of the man. At the time of going to press the cross-examination of the Doctor had not been begun by Mr. Cathcart.

800 SHARES IN OOKALA SOLD

There was a private deal in Oookala sugar stock yesterday afternoon that is attracting no little attention on the street on account of its possible effect on the continuance of that plantation property.

Although the transaction was not reported on the Exchange today, it is stated that a sale of over eight hundred shares of Oookala was made by Mr. Bond of Trent & Co. to Mr. Shingle of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company, representing clients.

Manager Walker of Oookala is in town and it was anticipated that something would be doing in the stock market after he arrived Saturday afternoon. According to the general report there has been no change of the control of the plantation and until there is the resolution passed to wind up the affairs of the property will hold good.

The difference of opinion on what to do with Oookala is evidently very sharp. It is presumed that those anxious to continue the plantation are buying and those assisting in the vote to close it up are selling.

The price at which the big block sold is reported as $16, which is high for Oookala and indicates that someone wants the stock enough to pay a price for it.

Mr. Palfrey, for many years the bookkeeper of Oookala, is said to be the purchaser of the big block. Those interested think the control of the corporation has not changed and the contending interests may get together.

Acetylene May Furnish Lighthouse Illumination

Acetylene gas may be substituted for kerosene as the illuminant for the lighthouses of the Hawaiian Islands. The matter has been pretty thoroughly discussed by the authorities of late and it is not improbable that a change may be made in one or two of the lights within a very short time.

It has been suggested that the new lighthouse in Honolulu harbor might be a good place to install the first of the new lamps, and there is more than a possibility that, before many moons have passed, the brightly burning beacons which will warn ships of dangerous reefs may be fed by acetylene gas. It is also possible that the six pile-lights that mark the channel will be fitted with acetylene lamps.

Should the proposed change of illuminant be made, it will mean that some forty lights will have to be fitted with new lamps. While this will mean the expenditure of considerable money to start in with, it is believed that, in the end, it will prove economical, in that the cost of maintaining acetylene lamps is said to be far less than that of keeping up those fed with kerosene.

It is necessary to trim and fill the kerosene lamps daily. It is claimed that the gas lights will burn for months at a time without any attention.

Another advantage claimed for the gas lights is that they can be seen much farther out to sea, and that they are visible in murky weather, when the ordinary beacon would be entirely obscured. It is also claimed that they rarely go out.

The lighthouse authorities on the mainland have been conducting a series of tests with different illuminants, and their discoveries have been such that they believe that a change should be made in the islands.

Practically all of the lights in the Hawaiian Islands are lighted with kerosene. There is a small electric light at Hilo, but electricity is not generally found practicable for the purpose.

Vaporized oil is also suggested as an illuminant, and one or more of the lamps may be provided with an equipment to utilize that.
